FORT LINCOLN
SUGGESTED AS STATE ADJUNCT

County Commissioners in Meeting to Discuss Proposal to Seek Fort For State Use

GOV'T INVESTIGATING?

Ward Co. Commissioner Said to Have Received Word Dept. is Considering Future Use

Suggestion that Fort Lincoln be turned over to the State of North Dakota to be used as a public orphanage will be advanced at the meeting of the county commissioners of the state to be held at Jamestown this month, it is expected.

Proposals that the fort be utilized as a state institution of some sort often has originated outside of Bismarck. It is understood that Commissioner A. S. Spicher, of Minot, has taken the proposal to make a state orphan's asylum out of the fort up with the War Department, and he is said to have received a reply stating that the department at Washington has had the matter of future use of Fort Lincoln under discussion, and that it should be determined that the fort is not needed for future military purposes some disposition would be made of it. The Ward county delegation is to urge a resolution to have the fort made an orphanage.

No such suggestion has originated from the state board of administration, Secretary Charles Lissman said today, although he said that individuals have often suggested that the fort be obtained as a state institution and that the matter has been informally discussed.

It has been suggested, he said, that the fort be obtained as a training school. He said the buildings are especially adapted to the use of a state institution which would be conducted on the so-called cottage system. There is no orphan asylum conducted by the state, although appropriations for one have been urged in the past. At the last session of the legislature a girl's training school was urged.

ASKS HANGING IN BURCH CASE

District Attorney Makes Bitter Attack on Madalynne Obenchain

Los Angeles, Jan. 10.—The extreme penalty—hanging—was asked of the jury in the murder trial of Arthur C. Burch by A. S. Keyes, assistant district attorney, who opened the argument for the state late yesterday and who was expected to continue it today.

Reviewing the evidence offered by the prosecution Mr. Keyes declared the lives of four people, Burch, Mrs. Obenchain, her former husband and present attorney, and J. Belton Kennedy, the young broker who Burch and Mrs. Obenchain are alleged to have murdered, were "involved in the tragedy" which led to the trial. "When Kennedy was killed," said Keyes, "Mrs. Obenchain had not only Kennedy's daily attendance upon her, but Burch and Obenchain also. She made a fool of the man she had sworn to love, honor and obey; she made a corpse of the man she had professed to love, she made a murderer of Burch." Argument is expected to continue three or four days.

OVER $3,500,000
LOANED IN N. D.
BY WAR FINANCE

Great Benefit is Occasioned in North Dakota by Loans Through Gov't Agency

LOAN AMOUNTS TO GROW
Over $10,000,000 of Applications for Loans in North Dakota Are Approved

More than $3,500,000 has been paid to North Dakota financial institutions through loans from the War Finance Corporation, according to figures given out by J. L. Bell, of Bismarck, member of the North Dakota State Committee. The Agricultural Loan Agency of Minneapolis has approved over $10,000,000 of loans for North Dakota, and completion of a large part of these loans through approval by Washington officials of the War Finance Corporation is expected in the near future.

The loans of the War Finance Corporation have already proved of material benefit in assisting many banks and their customers in North Dakota, and has prevented the necessity of banks requiring many customers to resort to forced liquidation, which would have been especially serious in rural communities, Mr. Bell said. The War Finance Corporation's operations have been a distinct aid in easing the strained credit situation in the entire northwest, he added.

All members of the North Dakota committee were in Minneapolis last week, and at practically all times during the last several weeks there has been a representative of the committee of North and South Dakota in Minneapolis assisting in the Agricultural Loan Agency of which M. O. Grangaard, of Rogers, is secretary. Mr. Bell, who returned this week from Minneapolis, said that the office is handling an immense amount of work, Mr. Grangaard having 25 employees under him.

The Twin Cities members of the committee are giving a large share of their time at a heavy personal sacrifice to the work, Mr. Bell said, mentioning in particular Vice-President MacGregor, of Northwestern National of Minneapolis, President Jaffray and Vice-President Leeman of the First National of Minneapolis, and Vice-President Hanson of the First National of St. Paul.

Following is a statement of the loan operations:

Both national banks of Bismarck, holding annual meetings today as prescribed for national banks, re-elected all officers and directors. Both banks—the First National and City National—have been under the same management for many years and rank among the most substantial banking institutions in North Dakota, the resources of the two being over $3,300,000.

Col. C. B. Little was re-elected president of the First National bank. CUTS IN SALARY
MADE BY COUNTY

Grand Forks, N. D., Jan. 10.—Salary cuts, effective immediately, of $120 annually were made late yesterday in the pay of each of 16 Grand Forks county employees, and one was cut $240, by the board of commissioners. The reductions will save the county $2,160 annually. The cuts affect all employees except those whose salaries are fixed by law, and six women clerks who were already drawing the minimum of $85 a month. Following a previous cut, the slashes bring the salaries affected practically to prewar figures, which now range from $90 to $120 a month, except the state's attorney's assistant who gets $66.66.

Charles Fox Tells Committee That Major Opie Shot Yank in Back North of Verdun

RECORDS ARE PRESENTED

Army Officer in Defense Says Record of All Hangings Was Telegraphed to U. S.

Washington, Jan. 10.—Charles E. Fox, of Richmond, Va., testified today before a senate investigating committee that he saw Major H. L. Opie, of Staunton, Va., shoot a soldier in the back north of Verdun in 1918.

"The man shot was wearing the American uniform," said Fox. "I was 150 feet away. As the boy was shot he threw his hands in the air and toppled over. I do not know if the man died. Sergeant Kane also saw the shooting."

Fox declared the soldier was within six feet of the major when the shooting took place, that he had approached the officer and was moving off.

RECORDS CABLED, HE SAYS

Washington, Jan. 10.—Complete records in the cases of American soldiers hanged after French court-martial in France were cabled immediately to the war department, Colonel Walter A. Bethel, assistant judge-advocate general in the army, testified today before a senate committee investigating charges that soldiers were put to death without trial.

"We sent the department the name of the man hanged, the fact of the execution and the offense," said Col. Bethel. "I do not know how soon the department made the facts public."

Names of men hanged were not given to the press out of consideration for relatives, the witness said. Referring to the case of Benjamin King, of Wilmington, N. C., who, according to previous witnesses was killed by orders of "Hard-Boiled" Smith an officer in charge of a prison guard, Col. Bethel reiterated that available war department records indicated that King was killed in action or died of wounds. No evidence, he said, had been obtained to support the charge that King was murdered, and information to this effect had been conveyed to his family.

Heartily sanctioning the furtherance of National Union establishment of unimpaired credit and respect with all National Associations, preservation of union, of strength, and the good name and integrity of its people."

Mr. Carmichael states that he fully endorses woman suffrage.

GUY BLAKE HAS

Guy Blake, young man who lost his eyes in an explosion while working on highways in Burleigh county, is believed to be the first North Dakotan to receive training under the civilian rehabilitation act of the federal government in the administration of which the state cooperates.

Blake is taking vocal training in Minneapolis. Though totally blind and otherwise injured he is said to have made splendid progress and instructors predict that at the end of two years he will be able to earn substantial amounts.

The name of Arnold Reher, 20 years old, who lost an arm while working in a coal mine at New Salem, has been reported to the state board of administration by the workmen's compensation bureau for instruction in some vocation under the same act. A compensation award of $3,225 also was made for him.

HEATON'S FATE
BEFORE JURY IN COURT IN FARGO

Jury Deliberates Many Hours Without Reaching a Verdict in Case

Fargo, Jan. 10.—Frank C. Heaton, former teller of the Scandinavian American bank, Fargo, was found guilty, after a jury in county district court here this afternoon after deliberating more than twenty-two hours. The crime for which he was convicted constitutes a misdemeanor. He will be sentenced Thursday, it was announced. The charge against Heaton was embezzling $78,000 from the Scandinavian bank during a period of two years while he was in its employ. He was arrested March 15, last, and the trial began early in December.

Fargo, Jan. 10.—The jury in the case of Frank C. Heaton, former bank teller, charged with embezzlement, was still deliberating at 2:30 this afternoon, having been considering its verdict since 5 o'clock yesterday.

This morning the jury sought additional instructions from Judge Charles M. Cooley, asking whether other employees of the bank could be prosecuted if Heaton were found guilty. Answered affirmatively the jury resumed its deliberations.

The Heaton case went to the jury at 5:05 o'clock last evening, after William Green, state's attorney, and Francis Murphy, defense counsel, ended their arguments.

Green asked the jury to determine its verdict on Heaton's crime alone, advising the jurors they were not determining the guilt or innocence of anyone else in the bank.

Murphy told the jury that Heaton was merely a tool of others and that "the Scandinavian-American was not a bank but a falsification factory."

THREE CONVICTS
STILL AT LARGE

Reported to Have Been Seen in Mandan Last Night

Three convicts who escaped from state penitentiary here early yesterday morning were still at liberty this afternoon.

A report reached the prison that the trio had been seen in Mandan last night, and Warden Stair went to Mandan this afternoon to investigate. The informant said the convicts still were in prison dress—khaki trousers, hickory strike shirt, cadet blue coat and khaki cap.

The bloodhounds lost trace of the convicts after picking up trails in various directions downtown. The search for the convicts continued all yesterday through Bismarck.

The convicts who escaped were Arthur Smith, George Theowles and Louis Meadow.

A curling baby boy peeked out from covers in a basket at the doorstep of St. Alexine hospital last evening as a kindly nurse bent to pick up the foundling.

The baby had been left at the hospital doorstep. A note was attached, written in tattering hand by a mother who was anxious that the baby have a good home.

The note said that the baby, a boy, was three weeks and five days old, but gave no further information. No name of any sort was affixed to the note.

GRIFFITH FOR TREATY

Leader of Faction Supporting Agreement with Great Britain which De Valera Fought

DAILY ADJOURNS.
Dublin, Jan. 10.—(By the Associated Press).—After electing Arthur Griffith president and naming a cabinet to assist him the Dail Eireann adjourned late today until February 4 to permit the new government to proceed with carrying out the provisions of the Anglo-Irish treaty.

After holding the session this morning with his followers in protest against the nomination of Griffith for the presidency Eamonn De Valera returned to the afternoon session with a promise of help for Griffith as president of the Dail but not as head of another government.

Dublin, Jan. 10.—(By the Associated Press).—Arthur Griffith was elected president of the Dail Eireann today.

Eamonn De Valera and his followers walked out while the vote was being taken in protest against the nomination of Griffith. Speaker MacNeill put the motion for Griffith's election and he was unanimously chosen.

Arthur Griffith was one of the founders of the Sinn Fein movement and has been among the foremost leaders directing its activities.

In October, 1917, he was elected presiding officer at the opening of the Sinn Fein conference in Dublin.

In July, 1919, he was elected acting president of the Irish national assembly in the absence of Eamonn De Valera in the United States. Later, in October, 1919, he was elected one of the permanent vice-presidents of the Sinn Fein organization.

FEAR FURTHER HOSTILITY.
Dublin, Jan. 10.—(By the Associated Press).—Anxiety was expressed in some circles today as to the attitude of the Irish Republican army on the Anglo-Irish treaty. It was said that although its leaders uphold the treaty a large section of the rank and file irreconcilably against it and this position is regarded as holding unpleasant possibilities.

Another fear is that some Republicans of a political bent are not understanding the Dail vote firmly set upon establishment of their own government at any cost with the purpose of making a failure of the treaty.

Encouragement for supporters of the treaty arrived last night with the announcement that organized labor in Ireland had resolved to throw its influence into the scale in behalf of the new government.

The Irish newspapers continue their support of the new order of things.

MILLER'S CONDITION CRITICAL

St. Paul, Jan. 10.—Clarence B. Miller, secretary of the Republican National Committee and former Congressman from Duluth who was operated on for appendicitis more than a week ago was reported by hospital attendants today as being "in a very critical condition."

Kind ministrations of nurses, what will be done with the baby has not been determined—it is probably will be sent to a Fargo home or someone permitted to adopt the baby.

The baby had been carefully wrapped in the basket to prevent it from suffering from the rigorous weather until someone from the hospital heard the cry on the doorstep. It was about 7:15 o'clock when the baby was taken in the hospital.

Minot, N. Shrinkages of 1,000 to 12,000 pounds are shown on shipping bills on a carload of potatoes from Lone Tree, N. D., to Chicago, en route only a week. This is said to be exorbitant.

THINK LANDRU MIGHT HAVE BEEN A SPY

Paris Lawyer Advances Theory That His Supposed Victims Were Accomplices

Paris, Jan. 9.—The idea that Henri D. Landru may have been a master spy who employed as his agents the 10 women he is convicted of murdering has been advanced by Henri Javal, a member of the Paris bar.

This suggestion is advanced in an effort to account for the fact that no direct evidence of the murders was brought out at Landru's trial. The absence of this evidence has caused a feeling of uncertainty by most Parisians in regard to this mysterious case and numerous attempts have been made to solve the mystery on some other basis than murder.

Developing his theory, Maitre Javal says:

"Eleven persons, 10 fiancées, and the son of one of them, have disappeared. Landru alone knows what has become of them, and he says nothing. By his silence he puts his head at stake. This can only mean that the truth were it known, would be as fatal for him. But the whole affair takes on another complexion if we imagine for the sake of argument, that his victims were his accomplices in crime, and that crime, espionage.

"Let us suppose," he continues, "that during the war Landru was a German spy-recruiting agent. He prefers to work through women. At once this explains his meetings, sometimes five in the same day, with hundreds of women, of whom he chooses only a few, and those few without friends or relatives who might be surprised at their long absence. He takes a lonely villa as far from other habitations as possible where he can receive them. There he fabricates false identity papers for them, keeping their own, and sends them forth on their missions of treason. Arrested, Landru says nothing, and his victims naturally do not break the silence.

"Can you imagine, by any other hypothesis," Maitre Javal concludes, "why so careful, calculating a criminal as Landru should bring the bodies of his victims with great difficulty and yet neglect to throw into the all-consuming flames such damaging evidence as their identity papers?"

"And does not this theory explain why he should keep such an incriminating document as the diary, in which reference to his victims is made by initials other than their own? He needed their identity papers and the entries in his diary to show to those who employed him as a recruiter of spies."

"RED REVOLT" BEING URGED IN GERMANY

The Employed and The Jobless Have Frequent Clashes Of Late

Berlin, Jan. 9.—The unemployed throughout Germany are demanding a division of work with the regularly employed and a larger allowance from the municipalities and the labor unions.

They have become so insistent and demonstrations and clashes between the employed and the jobless so frequent that representatives of the Central government, the labor organizations, and the municipalities are trying to find a method of dealing with the situation.

Political agitators have taken advantage of the situation to urge a "red revolt" against employers. This attitude of the radicals has caused sharp dissension even among the ranks of labor.

Labor circles charge that many of the "unemployed" are not members of labor unions and are really out of work, and if they were would seek to avoid work. They attempt to compel workmen who have jobs to quit in favor of the unemployed.

The government is planning the establishment of employment bureaus throughout the country, while the municipalities and the labor councils are canvassing the industries in the hope that jobs may be found for all.

The German Housewives League is trying to aid unemployed married men by placing their wives in positions to earn a little money "when not engaged in housework."

Low earning power of workmen and high prices has polarized the movement among women to share the responsibility of supporting the family.

BIG INCREASE IN WINTER WHEAT SOWN REPORTED BY STATISTICIAN

A. J. Surratt, North Dakota statistician, in his January report on agricultural conditions in North Dakota, says:

Winter Rye: The acreage of winter rye sown in the fall of 1921 is estimated to be 1,607,000 acres, an increase of 90 per cent over the 1920 fall sown acreage of 846,000 acres, and 16 per cent greater than the five year average of 1,379,000 acres, according to the December survey of the U. S. Bureau of Markets and Crop Estimates for North Dakota. The tremendous swings of rye acreage in North Dakota during the past eight years has attracted national as well as state wide interest. The fall sown rye acreage in this state increased from 300,000 acres in 1914 to 2,068,000 acres in 1918, then, due chiefly to the discouraging losses from the hopper pest, dropped to 974,000 acres in 1919 and to 846,000 acres in 1920. The increase in acreage is large in practically all counties with the northern third of the state showing the largest gain. A combination of influences have contributed to this heavy change. Farmers believed that the danger of severe hopper damage had practically passed. September rains left soil in favorable condition for rye seeding. Rye cost of production is lower than that of other grains. The financial condition of labor presented a difficult problem to a large number of farmers. A liberal rye acreage divides up harvest work to better advantage permitting the handling of more acres with home help. Rye is considered useful as a cleaning crop, also a desirable fall and spring pasture crop. The grain feed supply on numerous farms was short of requirements for doing the usual amount of spring work. Rye is considered a more sure crop than wheat.

Condition: September rains gave rye growth an excellent start over the greater part of the state. The fall condition estimated to be 92 per cent of normal has not been exceeded during the past ten years, and compares with 85 per cent last year and the ten year average of 85 per cent. U. S. Winter Wheat and Rye: The 1921 fall sown acreage of winter wheat in the United States is estimated to be 41,393,000 acres compared to 44,847,000 acres in 1920. Condition 76 per cent compared to 87.9 per cent a year ago and the ten year average of 89 per cent. U. S. fall sown winter rye acreage 5,184,000 acres compared to 4,238,000 acres in 1920. Condition 92.2 per cent compared to 90.5 per cent a year ago and the average of 90.9 per cent.

Fall Plowing: The fall plowed acreage for North Dakota is one of the high records for this state and is estimated to be 60 per cent of the total acreage, to be cropped in 1922 and compares with 59 per cent plowed a year ago. Due to the early fall rains, over most of the state followed by mild weather into the late fall, conditions were favorable for the completion of a large plowed acreage, especially in the eastern and northern sections of the state.

Wages: The reduction of wages in industrial centers coupled with the fact that farmers have done much of their own work than usual during this last season, has resulted in the supply of farm labor exceeding the demand. Competitive bidding for such work as has prevailed in recent years is rapidly passing. Roughly wages for 1921 show a 40 per cent slash from the high record wages paid during 1920, however the wages per month with board during 1920 were about 60 per cent higher and harvest wages per day with board were 43 per cent higher than the wages received in 1914 in North Dakota. The average monthly wage with board when hired by the year was $41 for the past year compared to $70 in 1920, $56 in 1919, $52 in 1918 and $41 in 1917. Harvest wages per day with board for 1921 were $3.85 compared to $6.13 in 1920, $4.35 in 1919, $4.50 in 1918, and $3.40 in 1917.

RUSSIA POOR PLACE TO GO FOR HOLIDAY

Serge Solovieff Got Lots Of Trouble, But Loses Clothes and Cash

Moscow, Jan. 9.—Russia is no place to spend a holiday, according to Serge Solovieff, formerly a business man of New York City and Syracuse, N. Y., and later a corporal in the United States Sixteenth Field Artillery, who recently arrived here on his way home, full of troubles and minus his clothes and $300 in cash taken from him at the frontier between Soviet Russia and the Far Eastern Republic.

Mr. Solovieff related that after 16 years in New York he had accumulated some money and thought he could afford a holiday and improve his health.

Last June he left Seattle for Japan and then, as he speaks Russian, decided to wander through Siberia. Then he continued west, thinking to visit Moscow. But at the frontier, he was stopped by the "Cheka," as is familiarly termed the active police, his papers, money and clothes taken from him and he was told these would be held in safe keeping, as "everything was free in Soviet Russia," and plenty of new clothes and money could be had for the asking.

After a fruitless visit to the "Cheka" headquarters where he heard light conversation about how one third of his fellow passengers had just been shot by mistake pending a closer examination of their papers, he got aboard a departing train and reached Samara.

There he saw some Americans from the American Relief Administration who gave him work at the rate of 75 cents a week, some food and clothes, and later he came in to Moscow, where he was able to get papers to take him to Riga, outside the Russia where everything and everybody is free.

Austria Levies Heavy Taxes

It Is Expected 150,000,000 Crowns Will Be The Yield

Vienna, Jan. 9.—Only the money of Soviet Russia is now cheaper than the currency of Austria, and prices in Vienna are rapidly approaching the same fantastic figures as in rubles.

Of the 120,000,000 crowns in circulation on December 1, 72,500,000 have been issued in ten months.

Effective December 1, new federal taxes are calculated to yield about 150,000,000 crowns, principally on public utilities and the state monopolies. The increases range from 80 to 150 per cent. Taxes on all spirituous and malt liquor are increased enormously.

It is nearly impossible to estimate the increased cost of food, varying as it does in different parts of the city, but fats, milk, bread other than the rationed article, white flour, are not only far beyond the reach of the average Viennese but very difficult for any one to obtain. Firewood has advanced 100 per cent and coal about 80.

Thus far the government has refused to consider an internal loan or a compulsory levy of foreign monies and securities advocated by the Social Democrats.

Efforts to reduce the enormously disproportionate civil list, composed of 253,000 civil servants and 87,000 pensioners have been abandoned despite the fact that, of a total population of 6,000,000 nearly one-fifth live on government pay. The civil servants and their families and families stood as one man against it and their opposition was so powerful that the scheme was hopeless.

It is now considered likely that Finance Minister Gueitler's plan for the abolishment of food subsidies may be delayed as it is contended that it would result in such an advance in prices that the people could not buy bread.

FREE TRADE RAISES PRICES

Moscow, Jan. 9.—Prices of clothes and food are jumping daily, since the establishment of free trade. The shops that opened up in September hold weekly invoices, when prices are marked up ten to 50 per cent. This helps speculation, the business by which everybody lives.

Recently the owner of a fur coat offered to sell it to a shop for 25,000,000 rubles. The shopkeeper, a former Princess, told a friend she had a fur coat for 30,000,000 and the friend found a buyer whom she charged 33,000,000 for the coat.

Prices have been shot up by big foreign buyers of luxury articles who use the couriers of minor diplomatic missions to smuggle the goods over the frontier. By a recent order, the bags of such couriers have been reduced to 40 pounds and made subject to inspection at the foreign office.

FUNERAL HELD FOR VICTIMS OF GARRISON FIRE

Garrison, N. D., Jan. 9.—Funeral services were held here Wednesday for Mr. and Mrs. Henry Ahrenstorf, whose charred bodies were found Sunday in the ruins of their home near here, which had burned early that morning. The smoldering ruins were discovered by neighbors who had been guests of the Ahrenstorf at a New Year's party the night before.

It is believed the couple was first asphyxiated by gas from a stove, which later exploded, firing the house. Mr. and Mrs. Ahrenstorf had lived near Garrison during the last two years.

FATHER-SON INTRODUCED THEMSELVES

Jacob Gross, Aged 70, Spends Christmas With Son Whom He Had Never Seen

Cleveland, Jan. 8.—Frank Gross, 29 years old, has just spent his first Christmas with his father, Jacob Gross, here. Until Frank's arrival, a day or two before Christmas, his father had never seen his youngest son.

Jacob Gross, 70 years old, came to America twenty-nine years ago from what was then Hungary, but since the Versailles treaty, has been in Roumania. He brought with him two sons, Sam and Jacob. Since their departure, Frank was born. The mother later died in Hungary.

Frank planned to come to America many years ago but was prevented because he was nearly of military age and the Hungarian government would not permit. He entered the army and was forced to serve through the world war.

Upon his arrival at Ellis Island, with his wife and two children, prospects of Frank's spending Christmas with his father and brothers were anything but bright. However, through an order of the immigration bureau that surplus immigrants be given a three-months leave of absence in America, they were enabled to join their relatives.

Frank was met at the station here by his father. After they had introduced themselves, Frank and his family were introduced to Sam and Jacob.

IRISH GIRLS MAKE LINGERIE FOR PRINCESS

London, Jan. 9.—Fifteen Irish colleens, picked needle workers, have been selected to make part of the lingerie for Princess Mary's trousseau. The work will be done at the girls' own homes, and will take six weeks to complete.

Fashion experts are enthusiastic over the beauty of the models. The garments are to be of the finest Irish linen trimmed with exquisite Carrick macraos and Irish point stitch lace, and threaded with pale, blue satin ribbon. Some of the lace has the shamrock pattern worked into it.

Donegal fisher girls are to make a number of white knitted frocks for the princess's honeymoon abroad. Technically they are described as "of very fine wool, quite plain in the body, short sleeves, and with a deep flounce for the skirt showing raised knots."

Irish tweed is the material for the princess's traveling dresses.

WM. TAFT WAS UNRECOGNIZED

Cincinnati, Ohio, Jan. 9.—William H. Taft, Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of the United States walked the streets unrecognized while viewing the scenes of his boyhood haunts on a recent visit to Cincinnati.

The Chief Justice started for a long walk from the home of his brother, Charles F. Taft, on Fourth and Pike streets. His route included Mt. Auburn, his old home place and the streets about Woodward High School, which he had attended.

Mr. Taft found standing many houses which he remembered well, looking just as they did when he went to and from school, except that they were older in appearance.

A unique feature of his walk was that, while he visited sections, where he once had known hundreds of persons, he did not see a soul that he knew or that knew him.

"That shows how much things can change in 20 years," Mr. Taft said in discussing his "tour."

STATE RURAL CREDITS LAW IS PRAISED

Legislative Committee of the S. D. Farm Bureau Federation Is Very Active

FAVORS TARIFF ON WOOL

Huron, S. D., Jan. 10.—Praise for the state rural credits law and for the "efficient administration of the same by the present board," endorsement of the American Farm Bureau in demanding federal legislation clearly defining the right of farmers to market their products cooperatively and the recommendation that every county Farm Bureau provide for the appointment of a capable committee on taxation in their respective counties, were among the most important features of the report by the committee on legislation at the annual convention at the South Dakota Farm Bureau Federation here.

The duties of these taxation committees would be to make a comprehensive study of the tax situation in their respective counties, townships, and school districts, and make a detailed report of this study to their County Farm Bureau.

The legislative committee further recommended that early in the next legislature, "a competent committee be appointed to confer with the farm organizations and others interested with the view to reconstituting the cooperative laws of the state; correcting any undesirable features, and adding desirable new ones."

The legislature is also urged to provide for a Live Stock Sanitary Board, "to be composed of four practical livestock men and one graduate veterinarian to be appointed by the governor without regard to political affiliations."

The committee reaffirmed its stand in favor of a permanent and reasonable tariff on wool, "in order that this one of the important industries of the state be not wiped out during this period of reconstruction." It also urged congress to enact the necessary legislation to authorize and to enable Federal Farm Land Banks to so regulate the rates of interest and the terms of loaning money to enable them to function under the conditions of business existing in the country from time to time; and that the maximum amount allowed to be loaned to one farmer be increased to $25,000.

Regarding the rural credits law the committee pointed to the fact that farmers of other states have demanded the enactment by their legislatures of Rural Credits Laws copied after the South Dakota system.

"This constitutes a great endorsement of our system," the committee said, "and we commend the wise provisions of the law and the efficient administration of the same by the board."

The committee expressed itself as favoring the amended War Finance Corporation Law as amended.

"In order that possibilities may be developed to their full extent," the committee said, "we call upon the banks and bankers of South Dakota to avail themselves of its provisions to the fullest extent consistent with safe business and urge the establishment of agricultural loan associations upon strictly businesslike lines for

MOTHER, QUICK! GIVE CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP FOR CHILD'S BOWELS

Even a sick child loves the "fruity" taste of "California Fig Syrup." If the little tongue is coated, or if your child is listless, cross, fussy, full of cold, or has colic, a teaspoonful will never fail to open the bowels. In a few hours you can see for yourself how thoroughly it works all the constipation poison, sour bile and waste from the tender, little bowels and gives you a well-playful child again.

Millions of mothers keep "California Fig Syrup" handy. They know a teaspoonful today saves a sick child tomorrow. Ask your druggist for genuine "California Fig Syrup" which has directions for babies and children of all ages printed on bottle. Mother! You must say "California" or you may get an imitation fig syrup. Adv.

NAMES NEEDS OF MODERN WOMEN

MRS. LYDIG HOYT

By Alice Rohe.
New York, Jan. 10.—Seven Cardinal Thoughts for the Modern Woman. I asked Mrs. Lydig Hoyt, the most talked-of woman in New York today, to fill that order.

Mrs. Hoyt—now known to the theater world as Julia Hoyt—is a most modern woman—a superlative woman. She has everything to make of her a self-indulgent, social parasite—superlative beauty, superlative social position, wealth—yet in her dressing room at the Astor theater, where she is appearing with Wm. Faversham in "The Squaw Man," she talked with real seriousness and understanding.

Her Cardinal Thoughts
And she gave me the Seven Cardinal Thoughts:

1. "The modern woman must have work and a big interest of her own regardless of her social position."

2. "Nothing in the world counts for happiness like the realization of accomplishment."

3. "Every healthy woman should realize maternity, not merely as a duty to her marriage tie but to her self-fulfillment. I have had two children, but lost them both."

4. "A mother who brings up a big family of fine children in a personal way has one of the greatest careers. But a rich woman who has all the material cares lifted from her the purpose of supplementing the ordinary activities of the banks and to enable them to offer credit accommodations in those localities where it is not otherwise available. We believe, however, that the recovery of the agricultural industry will be so retarded that it will be necessary for Congress to extend the period during which the War Finance Corporation shall be authorized to make new loans at least to July 1st 1923. That in the meantime a careful study of the operation of the law be made and upon the expiration of the said period the necessary legislation be enacted to make the changes in the operation of the law dictated by experience, to render the same a permanent institution and that the said corporation be continued permanently as an Agricultural Loan Corporation to provide for adequate and permanent financing of agriculture."

The committee put its stamp of approval on the movement for the appointment of a suitable representative of agriculture on the Federal Reserve Board because "it offers a solution of the many present difficulties of the industry."

The legislative committee also recommended that the State Department of Agriculture in cooperation with the various farm organizations, investigate the possibilities of establishing laws governing the state warehousing of farm products in line with the recommendations of the Agricultural Joint Commission.

SAY RECEIVERS EXPENSES CUT

Reduction of Number Already Cuts Salaries 25 Per Cent, Claim

Reduction of 25 per cent in the salaries paid receivers of closed banks in North Dakota already has been accomplished through consolidation of receiverships, it is said. With the announcement of the banking board of the appointment of three more receivers for groups of banks, there remains but two or three more groups in the state for which receivers will be named under the consolidation plan.

The consolidation has not been carried to its full extent because of the fact that some receivers obtained confirmation of their appointments by courts and have refused to resign. The question whether with approval of the state banking board, shall have power to name receivers will be settled through an appeal of a Dickinson case to the supreme court.

shoulders still has time for other activities.

5. "The modern woman by refusing to recognize them is doing more to break down artificial social barriers than any other force today."

6. "You hear a lot about the snobishness of the 'socially elect' toward the working classes—let me tell you—the snobbery of the working class toward the 'socially elect' is just as strong. I know!"

7. "Social position should not handicap a woman any more than wealth should. But the law works both ways, the poor and the rich suffer equally in being restricted in self-expression."

Mrs. Hoyt, whose beauty over the footlights is not even so dazzling as at closer range, stood, a tall, sleek, exquisitely modeled young woman of perfect lines, clad in a silver crystal gown of her own design.

"When I was 16," she said, "I began studying for the stage, but my parents disapproved. I have done amateur acting always. Then you know recently I went into the movies—but the legitimate drama is my chosen field."

"I am an ardent suffragist. I worked hard, speaking frequently for equal suffrage. I am for everything that helps women toward constructive self-expression. The stage is one of our greatest mediums of constructiveness."

W. E. Burnett, of Elston, president of the Citizens State Bank of that city, has been named receiver for closed banks at Greene, Tolley, Fortuna, Columbus, Loring, and for the Security State of Mohall.

G. R. Van Sickle, of Minot, has been appointed receiver for the Williston State Bank of Williston. He also is receiver for the First Farmer's Bank of Minot and the First Security of Carpio.

J. W. Lee, of Rhame, has been named receiver for closed banks at Haynes, Marquette, and for the First State Bank of Amidon. He has been receiver for the Farmers State of Rhame and continues to act as receiver for that institution.

A. E. Severson, of Valer, was appointed receiver for banks at Bantry, Dunsmuir, Benedict, Glenburn and the First State Bank of Sawyer.

What This Buffalo Physician Has Done For Humanity

SCHOOL COW HERD MAKES BIG MONEY

$33,000 In 10 Years Produced By Cows at Government School at Pierre, S. D.

Pierre, S. D., Jan. 10.—"Cows are cows," asserts Major C. J. Crandall, superintendent of the government Indian School here "but good cows are money makers." Major Crandall prides himself on the showing of his school herd which has produced more than $33,000 in the last ten years.

"I always maintained that nothing on the average South Dakota farm could make as much money as a good dairy cow," the superintendent said. "When I came here 10 years ago, I found my predecessor had started in the dairy business by purchasing a registered Holstein bull which he had turned in with a bunch of ordinary scrub cattle. In the spring of 1912 we had about half a dozen heifer calves from this herd. We took particular care of them and of all the heifers which came in succeeding years."

"For a few years we kept the original bunch of scrub cows but as soon as the new stock came into milk we began cleaning house by butchering. They furnished beef for the school for some time. Later we bought a few good high grade Holstein cows and every two years a new registered herd built."

Office records show the herd has made the following returns since 1911:

Milk sold	$2,503.59
Cream sold	1,041.85
Butter sold	115.07
Bull calves sold	769.85
Heifers sold	1,325.00
Cows sold	2,105.00
Stock fees	292.00
Hides sold	219.09

Total $8,171.25
Paid out for bulls and heifers $1,372.95
Besides this the original herd was consumed as beef at the school since 1914, and butter, cream and milk to the value of $25,000 has been used at the institution.

At the present time the herd consists of 40 cows headed by a grandson of the world's champion milk producer, College Belle Wayne. All labor attached to producing the feed and caring for the dairy herd is done by the Indian students at the school as a part of their regular course in agriculture.

SCOUT NOTES

TROOP ONE—BAPTIST SCOUTS.
Synopsis of previous meeting—Charles Moses given honorable discharge from the troop if he pays dues up to time of discharge. This was given on Moses' request. Motion passed providing for committee to arrange for placing of members voted into the troop in vacancies created in all three patrols. This was necessary as patrons feel it is unfair if they are just selected as voted in so the reason for committee. Committee appointed composed of members from each patrol respectively of the Fox, Wolf and Eagle, chairman, Barton Muir, George Russ, John Russ, William Newcomb, Robert Birdzell and Glen Wallace.

Following by-law was presented before the troop which will be of interest, especially to Scouts of this troop who have candidates for membership and to boys applying for membership: No person shall be considered as an applicant for membership if he is not present at the meeting to be nominated and voted upon unless he has legitimate reasons for not being able to be present and he has a scout representative for him. Cabin notes: Coming about slow but sure. Only drawback is that some boys are so infernally lazy that they will not go out and build that the work has not speeded. It seems that the boys that really want the cabin are the ones that go out day after day. So let us have a good time about now because if you will show your goods you may rid us of some infernals that feel they cannot work.

Membership notes: There is a vacancy in the Foxes, one in the Eagles and two in the Wolves, with one threatened vacancy in the Eagles and Wolves. So look up some friend in the scouts and come ahead if you want to get in.

EPISCOPAL SCOUTS, TROOP 3.
The above troop met last night in the Parish House and got down to work after the Christmas and New Years festivities.

After the usual business routine the troop had the great pleasure of voting for Louis Grambs, a first class scout, and lately of the Baptist troop. It is hardly necessary to say that the vote was unanimously in favor of his being admitted to all the rights and privileges of Troop 3.

It was decided to have a great celebration on the first Monday in February in honor of the first anniversary of the reorganization of the Episcopal troop. The nature of this event is to be kept a secret for a time but we understand that the committee appointed last night will arrange for a crack-banquet. Keep the date open.

Since our last notes appeared several basketball games have been played and in each case a victory secured.

"The Scouts Series" the official organ of Troop No. 3 has the following to say with regard to basketball: "The Episcopal troop is claiming the right to the troop championship of Bismarck, and issues a challenge to any duly registered troop in town or district, to play a game any day or at any time. This also means Mandan and Williston."

Surely some troop will accept this challenge.

HIGH SCHOOL OFFICIALS COMING TO BISMARCK

The people of Bismarck, especially the Boy Scouts will have an unusual opportunity to meet C. N. Meserve, Regional Director for North Dakota, South Dakota and Minnesota, Region No. 10. Mr. Meserve has visited nearly all the larger towns of the state and has inspected scouts.

Plans have not yet been made except the date, February 7. Mr. Meserve has been given a royal welcome in the other cities and is now at St. Paul. His coming here may help create a local council which will make scouts of this city more directly in line with headquarters. Creation of a local council will also get the men of our city interested in results and scouting. We wish the cooperation of the other scouts in the city to make Mr. Meserve highly pleased with us. Can we depend upon you? Either we will have committees from the troops or the troops as a whole. How about it fellows?

NOTICE OF SCOUTS

Merit Badge meeting, 7:30 o'clock at the high school. Members are asked to be present: V. H. Bolt, J. P. French, Judge L. E. Birdzell, George H. Will and H. S. Dobler, experts. J. J. M. MacLeod and Dr. Haigner and others.

THE JUNIOR EPISCOPAL CUBS

This lively troop will meet in the Parish House this evening at 7 o'clock and arrange work for the next few weeks.

After the meeting is adjourned the troop will proceed to Mandan Ave. to indulge in sliding. This troop recognizes the fact that it is due to the interest and initiative of S. W. Corwin that a slide with freedom from danger is possible.

We invite all who feel young to join the fun tonight at 8 o'clock.

PRESBYTERIAN SCOUTS NO. 6

Plans are under way for an entertainment to be given to complete our cabin and replenish our working fund. Now that we have the tarp paper covering on the cabin and a stove up, it is a good deal more comfortable. If we can get our bunks up it will be a pretty good place to spend the night. Ole Benson got a couple of rabbits the other day on his hike to the cabin and back.

Mr. Martin has very kindly allowed us to use the gymnasium at the Richholt school and we have had several hard games there.

BOYS BLASE AT AGE OF 15

Dr. Crendon Says Schools Should Be Built Out in Country, Away From City Life

Cleveland, Jan. 10.—The ideal place for a school is out in the country, as far from the city life as possible. Rev. Dr. John B. Crendon, president of Georgetown university, Washington, D. C., told Georgetown alumni at a banquet here.

"Our boys today," Dr. Crendon said "are blase at the age of 15. They start running around with girls. They go to the movies, wander up and down the streets, cannot entertain themselves and somebody else must furnish the entertainment."

"Georgetown has built its new preparatory-school out in the country several miles from the university. The young folks are allowed occasional trips to the city, but for the most part lead rural lives."

"That makes a boy provide his own forms of entertainment, and usually they are more wholesome than those dished out for him in the city. That makes his mind work."

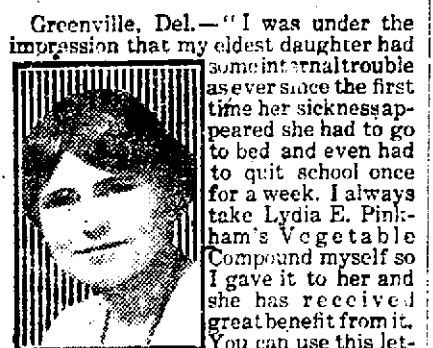

The dean of Georgetown medical college has contributed his services to the university since 1880 because of the education it gave him as a young man, Dr. Crendon said.

MOTHERS AND DAUGHTERS

Read This Letter from Mrs. W. S. Hughes

Greenville, Del.—"I was under the impression that my eldest daughter had some real trouble as ever since the first time her sickness appeared she had to go to bed and even had to quit school once for a week. I always take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound myself so I gave it to her and she has received great benefit from it. You can use this letter for a testimonial if you wish, as I cannot say too much about what your medicine has done for me and for my daughter."—Mrs. W. S. HUGHES, Greenville, Delaware.

Mothers and oftentimes grandmothers have taken and have learned the value of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. So they recommend the medicine to others.

The best test of any medicine is what it has done for others. For nearly fifty years we have published letters from mothers, daughters, and women, young and old, recommending the Vegetable Compound. They know what it did for them and are glad to tell others. In your own neighborhood are women who know of its great value.

Mothers—daughters, why not try it?

GOING IT TOO HARD?

Overwork, worry, overeating and lack of exercise and sleep are responsible for such kidney trouble. If your back aches and the kidneys seem weak, rest up and use Doan's Kidney Pills.

Chas. L. Pearce, farmer, 320-2nd St., Bismarck, says: "I have used Doan's Kidney Pills on different occasions when suffering from disordered kidneys and they have always done me good. I have followed the stone-mason's trade and it is mighty hard on the kidneys. For a time I was so lame I could hardly stoop down to get a bucket of water. I knew my kidneys required attention, so got a box of Doan's Kidney Pills at Cowan's Drug Store and used them until my trouble disappeared entirely. Whenever I have needed Doan's since, they have always brought the same good results. I have frequently recommended Doan's Kidney Pills."

COMPLETION OF NEW BRIDGE IS TOURIST LURE

Representatives of National Parks Highway Decide to Advertise Passing of Ferry

ANNUAL MEETING HELD

Report Made That 60,000 Auto Loads of People Passed Over Red Trail Last Year

Completion of the Missouri River bridge here is to be extensively advertised next spring and summer to tourists contemplating transcontinental auto trips as an example of the improvements being made on the Sixty thousand auto loads of tourists passed over the National Parks Highway last year, Mr. Keniston informed the meeting at which he presided.

Discuss Camp Sites

Coincident with the meeting of the Trail association, the men lying in charge of the tourist camps in the park met and after considering the large problems of the park camps, decided that a charge of fifty cents per day be made for tourist parties the charge being made in an attempt to reduce the number of "bums" who during the past year gave trouble in some of the camp sites. This meeting also recommended that there should be no private advertising in any of the camps, that public speaking be not allowed and that lights be out at eleven o'clock p. m. each night. It was also suggested that a system of registration, including the name of each passenger and driver, the make and number of the car and the license number be inaugurated.

The Department of the Interior was represented at the meeting by G. E. Gooding, chief engineer of the National Parks Service, who announced that 24 miles of new roads were proposed for the parks this coming summer, construction being pushed as fast as possible under the material conditions in the parks district.

Officers Re-elected

Mr. Keniston believes that the most important procedure of the meeting was the selection of Fred Adams of Spokane as the executive secretary of the association. Mr. Adams resigned his position as secretary of a big Columbia river irrigation project to accept the new position. He will become the active head of the promotion of the trail, and will be responsible for the raising of the proposed budget of $24,000. The other officers were re-elected, including W. G. Edens of Chicago, vice president; George N. Keniston of Bismarck and John A. Celatly of Wenatchee, Wash., and treasurer F. L. Crow of Spokane. The North Dakota members of the executive committee are J. J. White of Fargo, D. C. Rand of Jamestown, and F. Berringer of Dickinson.

SEEK FRIENDS IN HOUR OF NEED

In the hour of need we quickly seek our best friends, writes Mrs. Schridt Ward de Wet, 957 37th Ave., Oakland, Cal. "Our little boy and girl had a severe dry, rasping cough without phlegm, a cough that choked and flushed the face of the sufferers like unto convulsions. Foley's Honey and Tar was a wonderful emergency remedy." Cases like this give Foley's Honey and Tar its reputation as the best remedy for coughs and colds.

DAIRY HINTS

CONCRETE OR WOODEN SILOS

Test Made by Department of Agriculture Shows Material Used Cuts No Figure.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture)

Is silage any better when put up in stave silos than when it is saved in concrete silos? Stave silos are probably the more common kind; they are usually less costly. Many people, however, prefer the more permanent concrete on account of the greater durability and the fact that the building material may be found near home in many cases; but there is an impression on the part of some people that the concrete silo does not give such good results in the preservation of the silage from spoiling and from freezing. Experiments made by the dairy division, United States Department of Agriculture, do not bear out this notion.

In experiments conducted on the dairy division farm, at Beltsville, Md., two silos were used, one concrete and one stave, standing side by side. The stave silo was directly south of the concrete one, and hence got more sunshine and less north wind. Otherwise they had exactly the same conditions. Temperatures in the two silos were taken by means of electrical thermometers buried in the silage, which made a record which could be read on the outside. The thermometers were placed 3 inches and 18 inches from the wall and also in the middle of each silo. Three sacks of silage were carefully weighed and buried in each silo at various depths, close to the thermometers; and when the silage was fed down to where the sacks were, their contents were taken out and analyzed.

The quality of the silage was judged by its appearance and odor and its palatability to the cows. If much difference had been apparent a feeding trial would have been made to see which lot of silage was better, but the results in the two silos were so nearly alike that it was not thought worth while to make the feeding test.

In short, neither the temperatures nor the chemical analysis of the two kinds of silage revealed any marked difference that could be ascribed to the material used in the construction of either silo. Cows ate the silage from both silos with the same avidity. It is concluded, therefore, that farmers may build stave silos or concrete silos, which ever they prefer, without any fear of not getting good silage from either one, if the silage is put up right. It is assumed, of course, that the silo in either case will be properly constructed, with smooth walls, straight up and down, so as to be free from pockets and bulges, and properly coated inside with coal tar or some similar preparation; and that the silage will be properly packed, so that all air will be excluded. Silage will not keep in any kind of silo unless packed down and kept airtight.

GOOD PUREBRED BULLS HELP

Breeder Achieves More in Two Generations Than He Can in Five With Grade Sires.

With purebred bulls a breeder achieves more in the improvement of his herd in two generations than he can in five with grade bulls, says the United States Department of Agriculture. Department workers have thoroughly studied the subject of building up herds to better milk, butter and beef production. Better sires may be obtained either by individual purchase or by becoming a member of a bull association. Literature on the latter method can be obtained by writing to the department, and will furnish useful reading during the winter. Full information can also be obtained by consulting your county agent or state agricultural college.

DEHORNING CALVES IS EASY

Rubbing Caustic Potash Around Button of Young Animal Will Prove Efficacious.

Buy stick caustic potash at any drug store. Before the calf is a week old dampen the skin over the horn buttons, apply vaseline or lard freely to the skin around the buttons, wrap one end of the caustic with strong paper to protect the hand and then rub it upon the button until it is ready to bleed. Be careful to keep the cut the out of the eyes and do not burn skin other than that over the horn button.

GOV. NESTOS TO ADDRESS N. D. CO. COMMISSIONERS

Annual Meeting Expected To Be Largely Attended—Much Important Business

TAXES TO BE CHIEF TOPIC

Jamestown, N. D., Jan. 10.—Governor R. A. Nestos will have an opportunity to meet county commissioners of North Dakota, to whom he has addressed several letters, face to face here, January 19th, when he is the first speaker of the afternoon program of the annual County Commissioners convention. More than half of the county commissioners of the state have already written President A. G. Sherman of this city that they will be in attendance and the governor probably will address one of the states largest conventions when he appears here to meet and talk to the men he has been asking to cooperate with the state government in cutting down the tax levies of the state. It is confidently expected that at least seventy-five per cent of the North Dakota county commissioners will be present when the governor speaks. Following Governor Nestos on the program will be J. E. Kaulas of the State Highway Commission and R. G. McFarland. Following the three addresses, the meeting will resolve itself into an open forum for the discussion of taxes. Some definite lines of action for cutting down North Dakota's tax levies may be the result of this discussion.

Presentation of facts concerning good roads, taxes and discussion of possible future actions are on the program for the fifteenth annual session of the North Dakota County Commissioners association which convenes here on the morning of the 18th and continues in session through the 20th. Commissioners have been asked to bring questions they want information about to the convention and ample time has been given for discussion as well as a definite place for questions.

Greetings, roll call and registration and appointment of committees occupies the first part of the session of Jan. 18. The afternoon session will be given over to good roads with I. J. Moe of the North Dakota Good Roads association, E. W. James, assistant chief engineer of the Bureau of Public Roads at Washington and E. A. Hathaway district engineer of St. Paul as the speakers. Mr. Hathaway will discuss "Uncle Sam's Help on the Roads."

Thursday will be filled with an address by Russell D. Chase, questions and general discussion, while in the afternoon the program will start with the governor's address and continue to the subject of taxes. Friday, the convention will be given over to questions and discussion and the business meeting.

The officers of the association are: President, A. H. Sherman, Sutsman County; Vice President, Even Larsen, Benson County; Treasurer, Frank Helmes, Benson County. The directors are: F. F. Strauss, Wells County; C. H. Cooper, Sargent County; W. J. Cunningham, Towner County; Louis Rose, Cavalier county and H. W. Albers, Oliver county.

sonal exemption?

A—Your marital status on the last day of the year, or the taxable period, governs the exemption.

Q 23—Are gains from gambling taxable?

A—Yes, all gambling gains and illegal profits made in violation of criminal law or public regulations are taxable. Losses from such sources are not allowable deductions.

Q 24—Does a taxpayer have to report to the government amounts of income paid to individuals?

A Yes, if you pay to any person during the year salary, rent, interest, commission or other income amounting to $1000 or more you are required to file a return of information showing the amount and the name and address of the person to whom paid. Proper forms for this return can be secured from the collector for your district.

Q 25—What rate of depreciation can be claimed on buildings?

A—The rate of depreciation now generally recognized by the government is 2 per cent on brick buildings and three per cent on frame buildings. This is an annual allowance based on the cost of the building only.

This deduction can only be claimed on business or rented property and is not allowed on a residence in which the taxpayer lives. It is allowable, however, on a residence which he rents to another person.

Q 26—John Smith conducts a hardware store. On Dec. 31, 1920, his inventory was $15,000. During the year he purchased $35,000 worth of goods and his sales for the year were $75,000. On Dec. 31, 1921, his inventory was $17,000. How do these items enter into Smith's income tax return?

A—The inventory at the beginning of the year, $15,000, is added to the purchase, $35,000, making $50,000, from which the inventory at the end of the year, $17,000, is deducted, leaving $33,000, which represents the "cost of goods sold." This, deducted from the sales, $75,000, leaves $42,000, which is the "gross profit" from the business. In addition he can deduct his general expenses, losses, depreciation, etc., to determine his net income.

Q 27—An individual owns an apartment house and lives in one of the apartments with his family. The entire building is heated by one furnace and owner furnishes heat, light, water, and janitor for the entire block. How should the apartment figure in the owner's return?

A—The owner must determine how much of the cost of heating, lighting, etc., is attributable to his own apartment, and the balance of such costs may be deducted from gross income as an expense. Depreciation should be apportioned in the same manner. The rental value of his own apartment need not be included in gross income but the entire amount of rent received from the other apartments must be returned.

Q 28—An attorney supporting a family owns an automobile used both for business and pleasure. He employs an assistant and a stenographer in his office. He pays club dues, subscribes to legal publications and books and donates to charitable organizations. How should these items be treated in his return?

A—The part of the automobile expense apportioned to the time it is used for business is an allowable expense. The salaries of the assistant and stenographer are a business expense. Club dues are not allowable deductions unless a strictly business club such as a Chamber of Commerce. Legal publication and business books as well as donations are allowable deductions.

(More specimen cases will be described in Conkey's fourth article in tomorrow's Tribune.)

Address To Be Delivered In Legion Hall

Miss Jesse Ackermann will address a Bismarck audience at the American Legion Hall, January 16. The Business and Professional Women's club is bringing Miss Ackermann to Bismarck and her address here is being looked forward to.

Miss Ackermann has traveled around the world eight times. In an article on her travels, Charles L. MacGregor says, "In her 28 years of almost constant journeyings, into earth's most remote corners—and she has lived everywhere except in Greenland and Afghanistan, Miss Ackermann has been, both scientifically and humanly ever interested in, and devoted to, the progress and welfare of women. Whether studying the psychology of mobs or the sociological and domestic circumstances of the individual, heart has always gone hand-in-hand with enthusiasm. In the picture she brings home to us, never fails to appear an unselfish love."

It has not been learned just what will be the subject of her talk here. However, Mr. MacGregor says, "It is delightfully interesting to hear her just talk—of when she accepted a sea captain's challenge to go where no woman had ever been, was lowered overboard, on the ocean's bottom, easily waded in shoes weighing 16 pounds each, of meeting Japan's emperor, Targore, Tesla, Lloyd George, Olive Schreiner, Ellen Key, Marie Corelli, Hall Caine, Tolstoy and many others. Her discussions of earth's peoples and conditions and problems of you in the way of a sympathetic world citizen."

She has now completed her eighth trip around the world. The Business and Professional Women's club takes advantage of her temporary stay in Bismarck to give Bismarck people the results of the rich experience and large fund of information which enable Miss Ackermann with authority to present to her hearers a living, moving real world of human action.

The story tells of a mother love divine—a love which prompts the mother of a brood of six to make every sacrifice—to undergo endless weariness and mental suffering in order that her little ones may be provided with comfort. Then comes old age, and the departure, one by one, of her children.

It is like putting coal into a stove without fire. You can now obtain organic iron like the iron in your blood and like the iron in spinach, lentils, and apples from any drugstore under the name of Nuxated Iron. Nuxated Iron also contains the principal chemical constituent of active living nerve force; it is, therefore, a true blood and nerve food. ## ANONYMOUS LETTERS

Frequently The Tribune is in receipt of anonymous letters with request to print. All of them are immediately consigned to the wastebasket where they belong. In order to insure publication in the "People's Forum" letters must be signed. The name will be withheld from publication if desired, but The Tribune must have this evidence of good faith.

In a recent mail came a long letter attacking the employment of married women. Evidently the critic of this class of employees is deeply incensed at what he or she terms discrimination to the detriment of married men and single women out of employment.

Wholesale indictment, however, of the employment of married women is not fair. There are many instances where it is just as necessary for married women to seek employment as those who are not in the married class. People usually are employed for their ability in respective positions, and married women often are preferred when they are more efficient. It is a very hard situation to regulate. Since the war, women have taken a more prominent position in the industrial world than ever before. True the economic changes have worked a hardship, but how is the old balance going to be restored? It is a vexatious situation at best. The married woman as a rule enters industry under the spur of necessity or she desires to increase the family income so that she can educate her children better or enjoy the privileges that greater financial aid give her.

Sociologists have studied the problem of the married woman in business as well as the conditions arising from war when women were urged as a patriotic duty to assume vocations until then assigned exclusively to men.

The Tribune is interested in the problem and wants its readers to discuss the situation from their standpoint, but all letters must be signed. Personalities must be avoided and the text must be generally interesting. The Tribune places few limitations upon communications to the "Peoples Forum." Religious discussion is not permitted either. If readers desire to discuss the problem of the unemployed as it bears upon the employment of married women, The Tribune wants to print their views.

The unemployed naturally chafe under present conditions. There are instances where married women are working whose husbands can support them without their toil. Employers by investigating carefully the condition surrounding the employment of married women can ease this situation, but it must be borne in mind that efficiency is the main consideration and where a married woman produces more for the salary than the inefficient applicants, single or married, she is going to hold her job. The drive against the employment of married women must not be used as a subterfuge to place incompetents in jobs—competition not sentiment governs that situation, complain as we will about the seeming injustice of it all.

STRANGERS

Japan now has 2600 movie theaters, with American films most popular. Many of these films give the Japs the wrong impression of us. But what counts is, we've getting acquainted.

Movies have greater possibilities than anything else, for breaking down frontiers and welding the world into friends.

The movie may ultimately be the thing that will kill war, by teaching people that human nature is much the same all over the world, with the same petty problems dogging us all.

Wars are fought between strangers, seldom between friends.

BALANCE

The hop-aphis insect has 100 children 13 times a year, says the Smithsonian Institute. If all these lived and multiplied at the same rate, in a year's time the 12th generation of children would total 10 sextillions—10 with "000" written after it seven times. But they don't live. Birds eat most of them.

Nature keeps her machinery of life finely balanced, one preying on another, each form of life with another form of life constantly attacking it. Germs are man's destroyers.

FOOD

Plenty of food being grown for next year. Government crop report says farmers have planted 44,293,000 acres of winter wheat, compared with 44,847,000 acres last year.

The condition of the crop is 76, the lowest on record. Blame that on nature. Farmers have done their best.

Peculiar thing about the farmers. If they had to give away their crops for nothing, they'd go right out and patiently work at another big crop. They grumble, but stick to the plow.

Do you know of any better kind of citizen?

An old and historic black walnut tree is cut down at Snow Hill, Md. It was 80 feet tall, with a spread of 100 feet, and a trunk six feet thick. This walnut tree will be made into piano veneer. It sold for $700.

Old settlers can remember when black walnut trees were felled for firewood and rail fences. Other trees are headed the same way, unless we stop forest destruction.

WEAPON

China, beaten out of her just rights by Japan at the Washington parley, will retaliate with an economic war. Put the Chinese boycott of Japanese goods into effect again, is the order sent out by Chinese workers' unions and secret societies.

It will take time, but the boycott will do more to make Japan toe the mark than any conference.

Trade boycott is mightier than poison gas, bombing plane or submarine. It has enormous powers to prevent future wars. The pocketbook is the Achilles' Heel of modern nations.

LAWBREAKERS

Man is the natural law maker and woman is the natural law ignorer, says W. L. George, English feminist, famous as "the man who knows all about women."

His theory is that women hate restraint more than men do.

George is on the wrong track. His theory doesn't hold.

Women are the natural makers of the law. They begin with disciplining boys, later regulating their husbands with the wisdom of instinct.

Men make good laws. But women put the notions in the men's heads.

BACK

The mouth organ is coming back. Large heaps of them are displayed in music store windows. The fad will probably take strong hold, for the college boys have taken it up.

Historians will chuckle at this and say: "History repeats. Everything runs in cycles. All things come back."

The return of the mouth organ may mean we are another step away from the jazz band. When people show a craving to express themselves individually through music, harmony is returning. Jazz is mob-insanity music, never individual.

"MAN"

The term, "man," in our laws refers to women as much as to males, claims the Texas League of Women Voters. They want their legislature to amend the statutes, to this effect, with a recognition that where "man" occurs in the Texas constitution it should be interpreted as a generic term.

It's a subject on which courts disagree.

To settle the argument, and keep it settled, statutes should be revised, using a collective word, such as "person," which includes both sexes. Women should have equality with men, even to the last detail of phraseology.

EDITORIAL REVIEW

Comments reproduced in this column may or may not express the opinion of The Tribune. They are presented here in order that our readers may have both sides of important issues which are being discussed in the press of the day.

THE RESTLESS WHALE

There seems to be ample excuse for a congressional investigation into the restlessness of the whales of the Atlantic ocean. A government report informs us that one of these mammals attempted to enter the Pacific ocean by way of the Panama canal and after being stranded at the Atlantic entrance to the waterway was done to death by machine guns and high explosives dropped by an airplane.

The evidence would tend to show that the whale had become dissatisfied with living conditions in the Atlantic and had determined to enter the Pacific at all costs. Only a congressional committee with the customary subcommittees and corps of investigators could ascertain the real causes.

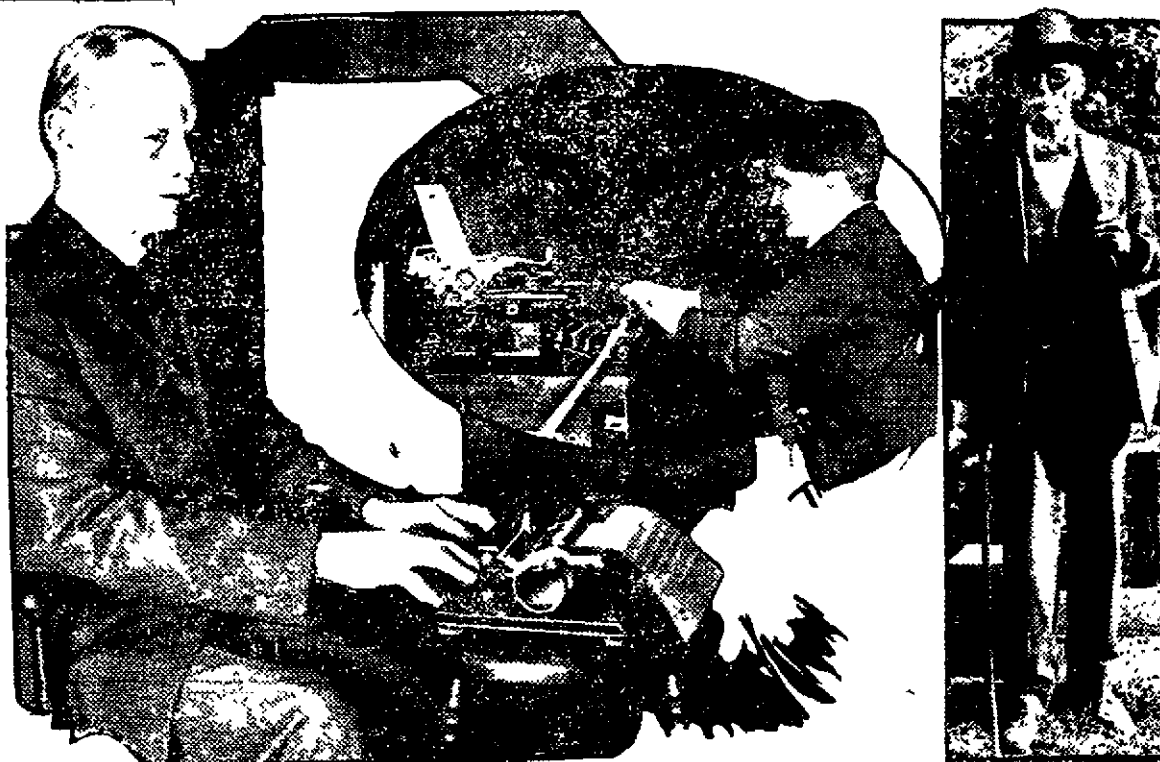

There is another side which deeply concerns students of Oriental problems. Would not the presence of Atlantic ocean whales in the Pacific at this time tend to complicate further the already very complex questions of the Far East?

There is a tariff angle, too. Should whales raised within the three-mile limit on the Atlantic ocean side be allowed free passage through the Panama canal? If so, should not also the whales of the Pacific, naturalized or native-born, be allowed free tolls, and it is not the duty of congress to raise an appropriation to provide whale ladders for the Panama canal similar to the fish ladders of inland waters? Also, there should be an inquiry into the reasons for attacking with machine guns and high explosives a whale which approached the canal on what was apparently a peaceful mission.

On the face of it this one restless whale probably has provided congress with enough material to keep it busy for an entire season.—New York Tribune.

BLIND MAN BUILDS CITY

Another Runs Correspondence School; Third, Handless, Wins Fame! Why Then Should You, With Sight, Despair?

What would life hold for you if you suddenly became blind? Despair, dependence on relatives, poverty?

A thump and a street corner? Or would blindness spur you on to greater achievement by making all other obstacles seem trivial by comparison with your blindness?

In three different cities today are three blind men who've wrung light from darkness, who are doing things one has built a city—a city he'll never see.

Another's running a correspondence school for other blind people. The third, who is also without hands, makes a good living by operating a typewriter—never seeing what he writes. Here are their stories:

THE CITY BUILDER

In one of the wildest regions of Texas a rider paused as his horse drank from the Colorado river in Backbone Valley.

The rider looked at the river and the surrounding country. "Some day I'll build a town here," he said. "Plenty of waterpower for industry, plenty of beauty to attract residents."

Then he rode away. That was in 1860. Shortly afterward the rider, Adam R. Johnson, left to take part in the Civil War. Even his promotion to a general did not cause him to cease thinking of the town he was to build.

After the war he returned—with both eyes gone!

But he set about building the town. He went to New York to secure capital for his project. He bought the land, subdivided it, sold the lots at auction.

And today—His dream is realized in the city of Marble Falls, Texas, with the spires of its churches, the smokestacks of its factories, the trim neat rows of residences.

Through all this General Johnson walks about without a guide. But though Marble Falls is his creation, he cannot see it.

THE TEACHER

For 27 years William A. Hadley, of Winnetka, Ill., taught in schools and colleges in the middle west.

Then—seven years ago—he became stone blind.

"What are you going to do?" his friends asked.

"Keep on teaching!" he replied. And Hadley founded the first free correspondence school of higher education for the blind.

He prepares lessons for students hundreds of miles away by transcribing into raised letters with a Braille typewriter passages from text books his wife reads to him.

Hadley calls his correspondence school The University of Courage.

Today at 62—He's pounding out his daily lessons and says he'll keep them up for many years to come.

THE TYPIST

Carl Bronner of Cincinnati, a sailor, went one day to visit the western front while on leave from his ship in foreign waters.

A shell burst. The shrapnel not only deprived Bronner of eyesight for life but it maimed his hands and forearms so severely that they had to be amputated.

For months he lay on his hospital cot, wishing to die.

Then, sightless and handless, he came back home.

He learned to operate a typewriter by touch with artificial hands.

Now he's making an independent living. He's corresponding with friends. And he's enjoying life.

A THOUGHT FOR TODAY

And in every work that he began in the service of the house of God, and in the law, and in the commandments, to seek his God, he did it with all his heart and prospered.—2 Chronicles 31:21

We give Thee thanks, O Lord! Not for the palaces that wealth has grown.

Where ease is worshiped, duty dimly known.

And pleasure leads her dance the flowery way.

But for the quiet homes where love is queen.

And life is more than baubles touched and seen.

And old folks thank us, and dear children play.

For these, O Lord, our thanks! —Robert Bridges

A MESSAGE FROM THE BLIND

By William A. Hadley, Teacher of the Blind

When your life's ambition has faded, pick up a new thread of endeavor.

Make your renewal of effort count for other people and eliminate yourself entirely from the gain.

I've found that the best way to bear blindness and it's work for your affliction, too, whatever it may be.

Because, when you think of the other fellow and not yourself, your own sorrow fades into insignificance.

In unselfishness lies the real thrill of being alive.

LEARN A WORD EVERY DAY

Today's word is DEBENTURE.

It's pronounced—de-ben-shure with the accent on the second syllable.

It means—a certificate showing money is owed, signed by the debtor.

It comes from—Latin "debentur," they owe.

It is used like this—"The allies will issue debentures for the money they owe the United States."

THE "CRAZY" QUILT

Smiles and laughter, tears and pain, Sun and shadow, wind and rain, Blending in their colors here, Wedding wreaths and funeral bier; In these colors we can see, Life, and love and tragedy; Each a treasure of the soul, And each a measure of the whole.

ADVENTURE OF THE TWINS

By Olive Barton Roberts

Nancy and Nick and Buskins sat quite still while the Fairy Queen was hearing the trouble of all the kite people from the Land-of-Up-in-the-Air.

"Who is next?" she asked.

"Us," answered two box-kites, stepping timidly forward.

"We," corrected the Queen. "Yes, we," nodded one of the kites. "But we're so nervous we forgot our grammar."

"Why, what is the trouble?" asked the Queen kindly. "What are you afraid of?"

"We—we don't want to be sent back if you please," explained the kites. "You see, we spoiled the trade."

I haven't the least idea what you are talking about," declared the Fairy Queen. Suppose you begin at the first and tell me all about it."

"Well," said one of the kites, "it was this way. As we are box-kites we go very high up into the air, and being strong, we can carry a great deal of weight, so Mr. Pettigrew thought of a plan to use us in advertising. Mr. Pettigrew is manager of the Snow Soap Company. So he got eleven of us and put an electric light in each one. As we all had different letters, at night when we were sent up into the sky with our lights burning, we spelled out the words 'Use Snow Soap.' I had an 'S' on me and my friend here had a 'W' as you can see. But one night our lights went out. There we were up in the sky, spelling 'Use No Soap.' and the children were tickled to pieces when they looked out of their windows at bedtime and saw us. Mr. Pettigrew was furious, so my friend and I broke away and came here. Please don't send us back. It wasn't our fault."

"I'll write a note to Mr. Pettigrew," said the Fairy Queen. "You need not be alarmed about returning to your friends."

"GLOW WORM" RADIATOR GIVES WARNING TO SPEEDY AUTOISTS

Just outside the city limits of Boston this glowing radiator casts a reflection as a danger warning to speeding autoists. A hundred yards away there is a sharp "S" in the road, and many collisions entailing serious injuries and loss of lives occurred before the "glow worm" was erected.

"FOOL TRICK" OF EVERY OPERATOR

Good Percentage of Automobile Owners Start Cars With Brake Not Released.

TREAT GEARS VERY ROUGHLY

Pressing Starter When Motor is Already Going is Also Common Mistake—Better Plan is to Touch Accelerator.

Every motorcar operator has his pet "fool trick," even though he may pride himself on his careful driving. For instance, it is safe to say that a good percentage of automobile owners start their cars with the emergency brake not completely released. This is, of course, a bad practice, since it cuts down the motor's power and causes excessive wear of the brake linings.

When Engine is Unheard. Did you ever think you had stalled your motor and pressed the starter button when the engine was still going, but its sound was drowned by traffic noises? Chances are that you have more than once; yet it is a bad thing to do, and doing it too often will in time make it necessary to have the starter drive or flywheel gear replaced.

A better plan before depressing the starter button in such a case is to touch the accelerator and listen to see if the engine responds.

Every one has at some time or other tried to shift gears without throwing out the clutch, but a few drivers seem to have a habit of trying to do this impossible "stunt." Persistence in doing this chips off the teeth, and will make replacement of the gears necessary.

Throwing Gears Forward. Another bad habit in this connection is to throw the gears into a forward speed while the car is still moving backward or vice versa. This is equivalent to trying to mesh gears going in opposite directions. Any one, even not mechanically inclined, can foresee what the result will be.

Last, but not least, is the careless practice of a few motorists in putting the car in the garage for the night and leaving the ignition or lighting switches on. A visit to the battery recharging station the next morning is the worst result, however, that the motorist can experience for his neglect in this particular.

AUTOMOBILE GOSSIP

Automobile salesmen in the United States number approximately 100,000.

More than 2,000 motor vehicles are used by the United States Department of Agriculture.

There are 185 passenger cars, 40 trucks, and seven motorcycles in the Bahamas Islands.

The number of American made automobiles in Norway exceeds those of any other country.

Bellevue hospital in New York city operates seven motor ambulances and one bus for the insane.

Pennsylvania provides for the official seizure of any motor vehicle bearing defaced or damaged motor numbers.

Small motorcars are used by the Swiss postal authorities for the transportation of letters and telegrams.

If drivers would only learn it, the easiest way to avoid many gear changes is to make the necessary ones quickly.

During 1920, 20,492 persons in Germany were convicted of profiteering.

Los Angeles police have been forbidden to appear in film plays.

Rules for Safe Driving.

Keep to the right of the road. Slow down at crossings. Signal for a stop or turn to cars behind by holding out the hand.

Apply brakes slowly. Change speed rates slowly. Drive carefully.

Be prepared to help any motorist in trouble on roads distant from garages.

Be prepared to give pedestrians "lifts" on country roads. Stop car and engine when meeting drivers with sheep or cattle on country roads.

Park only at side of roads, leaving fairway.

When buying produce in the country, park alongside road, not on the road.

When parking at night leave warning lights.

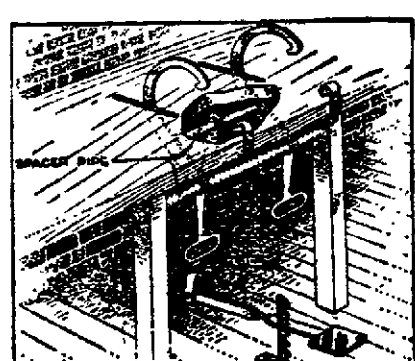

Have headlight dimmers and use them when meeting and passing other motorists at night.

USEFUL BENCH TIRE DEVICE FOR GARAGE

Old Pair of Ice Tongs Can Be Put to Good Use.

Points Are Dulled to Prevent Injury to Casing and Then Pivoted 10 Inches Apart on an Iron Rod—Pedal Spreads Open.

An old pair of ice tongs can be used to make a handy bench tire spreader for a garage. The tongs are taken apart, and their points dulled, so that no injury will be done to a casing, after which they are pivoted 10 inches apart, on a 1/2-inch iron rod, as shown in the drawing.

A Tire Spreader, Made From a Pair of Old Ice Tongs, is a Very Useful Device When Installed on a Garage Bench.

Lengths of pipe on the rod hold the parts in position. Another rod is used to join the parts. The first rod is fastened to two uprights under the bench, and the second is connected with a pedal, made of strap iron. The tongs pass through two slots in the top of the bench. Small pieces of strap iron, bent into hooks, are fastened to the edge of the bench as indicated. A notched piece of strap iron, bolted to the floor, holds the pedal in different positions. One edge of a casing is gripped by the strap iron hooks, and the other by the ends of the tongs. When the pedal is pushed down, the tire is spread open, so that it can be repaired. —Dale R. Van Horn, Lincoln, Neb., in Popular Mechanics Magazine.

INTERCHANGE SPARES OFTEN

When Left Out of Service Too Long, Its Endurance and Longevity Are Handicapped.

It is a good rule not to carry a spare tire too long. Interchange it with the other tires every month. Of course, it should be carried covered. When left out of service too long, its endurance and longevity are seriously handicapped.

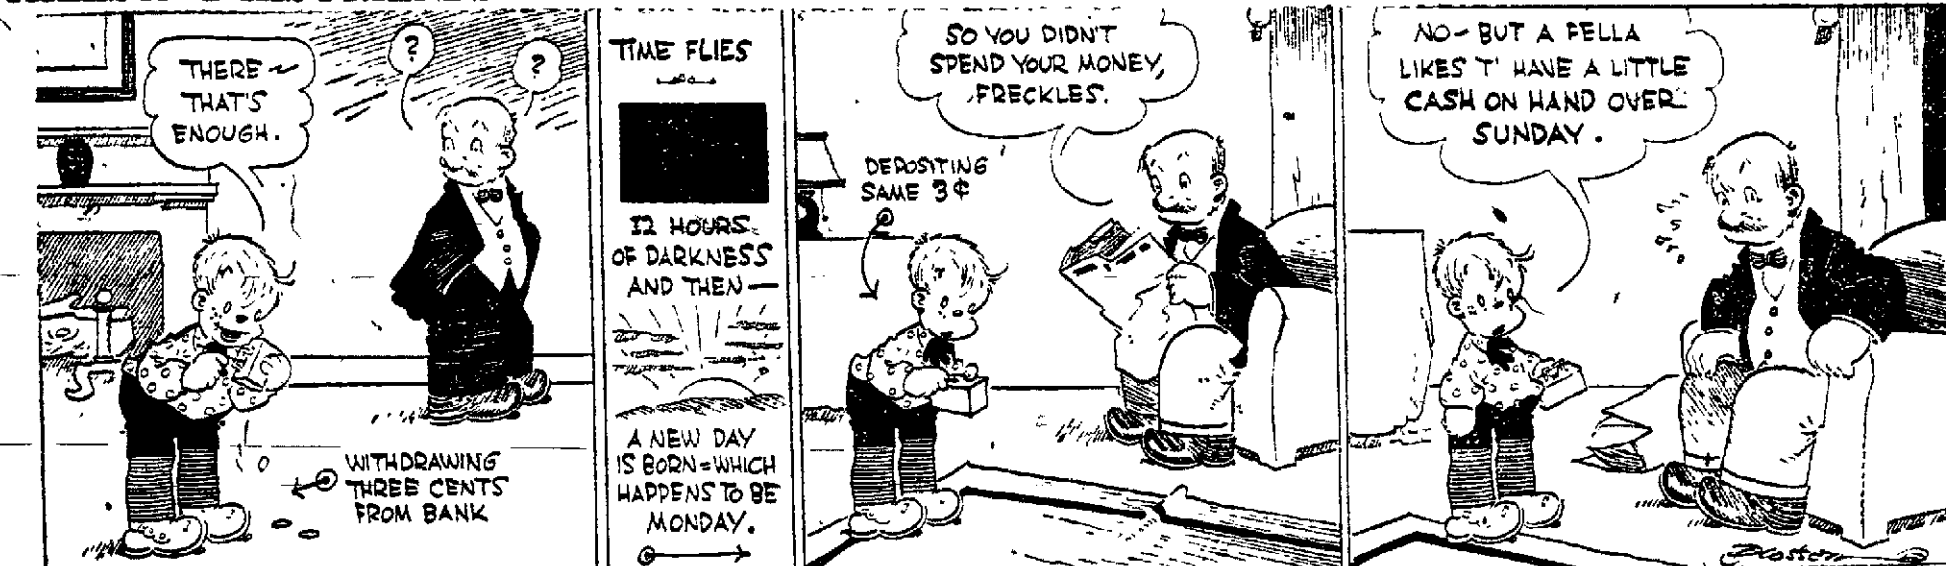

Rice can now be liquified into the form of milk.

Combustion Motors Proving a Success

Paris, Jan. 9.—Experiments with internal combustion motors as traction power for branch railroad lines in France have been so successful that they are to be continued on a larger scale. Ordinary automobile motors of 40 to 60 horsepower hauled a rural train, at an average speed of 16 miles an hour. # MISSOURIANS WANT TO HEAR MISS NEILSON

Her Subject At Annual Farmers Meet at U. Will Be "S. O. S., America Is Calling"

Miss Minnie Neilson, superintendent of the North Dakota schools has been asked to be one of the speakers at the annual Farmers' week at the University of Missouri, the six days in which the farm people of Missouri meet at the University at Columbia to discuss the problems of the farm, the rural school, the home, the church and the community. People from all corners of the state are present at this meeting, and while the event is but seven years old, it has developed into one of the unusual agricultural meetings of the nation.

This year the speakers at the annual week have been drawn from all corners of the United States. One of the chief features of the annual week will be the special night programs, according to Dean E. D. Mumford of the College of Agriculture. Miss Neilson, who will speak upon an educational topic, has been announced as a speaker by Governor Arthur N. Hyde on the evening of January 19th. Miss Neilson's subject will be: "S. O. S., America Is Calling."

Some speakers who will appear and their topics are: Dr. J. C. Galpin, Washington, D.C., "The Human Side of Farming"; Dr. W. W. Dill, Albion, Mich., "Building the Community"; Sam A. Baker, Missouri superintendent of schools, "The Test of Civilization"; and Theodore Gary, Jefferson City, Mo., "Road Building Progress." Other night speakers, whose subjects have not been announced are Eugene D. Funk, Bloomington, Ill.; Howard M. Gore, Clarkburg, West Va.; H. C. Haylor, head of the Bureau of Markets, Washington, D. C.; Fred H. Dicks, Long Beach, Calif.; and President J. C. Jones of the university.

RUSSIANS LOVE THE OPERA, BUT IT DOESN'T PAY

Youth and Beauty Do Not Count With Russian Ballet Fans

Moscow, Jan. 10.—Russia's greatest sport, the ballet, is threatened with extinction. The various municipal Soviets are tiring of the deficit which they have to make up in order to keep the operas and the ballets going. Ballet and opera alternate in the big theaters. The ballet pays, but doesn't make enough profit to carry the opera and the great orchestras necessary to satisfy the music-loving Russians.

Ballets are the subjects of endless discussion.

Families break up over differences about the merits of Shumova, Gelsler, Gerdt and others who are now holding the spotlight in Petrograd and Moscow. To a lesser degree the same battle rages at Kazan and Kiev and Odessa. Just at the moment Lukan is the favorite in Petrograd and Odessa.

Youth and beauty do not count with Russian ballet fans. It matters not if the ballerina is old. In fact she generally has to be fairly mature before she can master the intricate steps upon which Russians give points. She may have muscles which give her the appearance of a strong lady in the circus and still fascinate Russian spectators if she spins fast enough on her toes and shifts her weight from one leg to the other in just the moment prescribed in the rules.

At first a foreigner is inclined to admire the beautiful young neophytes who dance mazourkas, and have all the charm which grace and flowing white robes can impart to youth dancing to the music of a superb orchestra. That is the result of utter ignorance.

Gelsler, the strongly featured player of the Moscow circuit, recently fell on the stage and had to beat a retreat before catcalls and howls which made it impossible for her to reappear for a fortnight. Russian ballet fans are as merciless as the crowds at a Spanish bull-fight. There are no excuses for failure.

ED WALSH WAS SUPERMAN OF THE BALL FIELD

BY BILLY EVANS

Ed Walsh, once famous pitcher of the Chicago White Sox, will live long in the annals of baseball as the "Iron Man" of pitchers.

If there ever was a glutton for work, Ed Walsh was that individual. From 1916 to 1919 he took part in almost fifty games a year.

Walsh in those six years did about twelve years' work. He had outlived his usefulness at a time when he should have been at the height of his career.

Here are just a few high spots in the career of Walsh, from 1916 to 1919, his big years in baseball. Here is his 1916 record.

Won 17 games and lost 13. In 10 of his 17 victories he scored shut outs.

Pitched 3 one-hit games and worked in 13 games in which he allowed 3 hits or less.

In the record of 19 straight made by the Chicago White Sox from Aug. 2 to 23, he worked in 7 games and won them all.

In hanging up the 7 victories in 22 days he allowed only 6 runs. In 4 of the games he shut out the opposition.

Hero of World Series

In the 1906 world series with the Chicago Cubs, which the Sox won to the great surprise of the baseball world, Walsh featured with his pitching.

He twice beat the Cubs. In his first game against Chicago's then great team, he allowed only 2 hits and no runs and struck out 12 men.

Walsh had another big season, although not replete with the many sensational performances that featured his work in 1916.

His record for the season was 21 games won and 13 lost.

The season of 1917 was the biggest year in the career of Walsh.

The "Big Moose," as he was known by the ball players, worked in 66 games, nearly half the number played by his club.

Walsh started 49 times, finished 15 other games and managed to win 40, lose only 15 and tie 1 game.

In a game against Cleveland he struck out 17 men in 8 innings, yet lost the game. In that contest Jos. J. Pitcher for Cleveland, shut out Chicago without a run or hit, not a player reaching first base.

He scored 12 shut outs.

In the last 9 games of the season he worked in 7 of them.

1918

The strain of the three previous years told on the old arm and the best Walsh could do was win 15 and lose 11. The Sox finished fourth.

1919

Regained his title of the "iron man" of the league by working in 45 games. With a club that finished sixth, Walsh won 18 and lost 20 games.

1920

Once again he did more work than any other American League pitcher. His record was 27 won and 18 lost.

1921

Worked in 62 games, although his record only shows the winning of 13 and losing 8 games.

1922

Fadeout. Despite his many efforts to come back, the old arm wouldn't respond. The "Big Moose" was through.

Exit without cheers.

ORDINANCE ON DANCING IS UP

Read For First Time at Meeting of City Commission

An ordinance regulating hours of dancing and dance halls was read for the first time in the city council last night, being introduced by Mayor Lehart after discussion of provisions with a committee from the Women's Community Council headed by Mrs. F. R. Smyth.

Among provisions of the ordinance are: Public dances must close at 12:30 a. m. dancing after midnight Saturday night is prohibited until Sunday midnight, no one under 18 years of age is permitted in dance halls unless accompanied by parent or guardian, dance halls must have permits and be under police supervision, with fine of $50 or 30 days in jail for violation of ordinance. A petition of the Ministerial Association protesting against dancing after midnight Sunday was received.

Representatives of the community council called attention to reports of a large increase in the death rate in Bismarck in the last 10 years, and asked that an investigation be undertaken. Informal discussion developed that there is both a high death rate and high birth rate in the city, due to the out-of-town people at the local hospitals. It was asked by the women for vital statistics be published.

A letter of E. M. Stanton, health officer, explaining he was refused admission to the place of the Bismarck Water Supply Company was read. He was asking the city attorney be instructed to take action against the company. The commissioners, in discussion, held that since Stanton is a special policeman he was fully clothed to take any action himself. Commissioner Thompson characterized the letter as foolish and believed made for an ulterior purpose.

Commissioner Hersler was not present, he being held in quarantine because of illness in his family.

The following bills were allowed:

George Gussner ..... $17.98
French and Welch Hdw. Co. .... 75
Street and Sewer payroll ..... 80.00
C. L. Young, services in water ..... 101.70

FOOTBALL STATISTICS FAIL TO INCLUDE LONG PUNT

Football statistics given out by various experts since the close of the season, have covered most of the interesting feats of 1921.

However, some worth-while performances are always overlooked in the shuffle. None of the dope experts included in their records a remarkable punt made by Isabel, half-back on the Ohio State eleven. Isabel, whose first name is Wilmer, a rather peculiar combination for a football player, jumped into the lineight in the Ohio State-Michigan game.

His kick traveled 73 yards in the air, and rolled 14 yards more before it was intercepted, making a total distance of 87 yards. Some punt, certainly worthy of recognition in the football records.

Isabel has another year at Ohio State. He is one of the players around whom Coach Wilce will build next year's team. He is one of the few Columbus high school players on the State team.

Today's Sport Angle

The second guess is a great thing in sport.

It is almost always possible to analyze a sporting event and find some flaws in the play.

With the second guess one can always tell what might have happened had the style of play been shifted.

In looking over the running account of the recent game between California and Washington, and Jefferson, some interesting facts are apparent.

California pulled a "boner" at the end of the first half. While time was being taken out the California quarterback discovered that but two seconds of play remained.

California had the ball on Washington and Jefferson's 22-yard line. He had all the time he needed to arrange his eleven in kick formation and try for a drop kick or goal from placement. He called for the kick formation and then changed signals and ordered a forward pass. The pass failed.

With three minutes left to play in the second half, California got the ball on a short kick on the easterners' 20-yard line. Two fresh line plunkers were sent in and the California goal kicker was permitted to remain in the lineup. Three plays put the ball on Washington and Jefferson's 12-yard line.

Two yards needed on fourth down. Fresh plunger in the backfield, also a kicker. Again a forward pass was called for. It was completed, but the receiver fumbled when tackled, and Washington and Jefferson, recovering the fumbled ball, came near converting it into a touchdown.

With only two yards to go and "Duke" Morrison, California's best line plunger in the game, and going good, a plunger-over center or off tackle looked like the proper play. Morrison has the reputation of seldom failing in a pinch.

Do college athletes make the brainiest ball players?

Does the fact that a college player enters the big league with a highly trained mind, give him a distinct advantage over the sandlotter?

Positively no.

Some of the keenest minds I have ever seen from a baseball standpoint were possessed by players who never had the advantages of even a high school education.

Some of the dumbest players I have ever seen from a baseball standpoint, were college graduates with one or more degrees. In baseball, college degrees don't mean a thing. I have always believed that intuition had much to do with baseball brains.

Last season Glenn Killinger of Penn State College was the sensation of the football world. Killinger by many was considered the greatest running back the east has developed in years. He was generally credited with being a football player who used his brains to advantage.

Killinger is to get a big league trial with the New York American League club in the spring. Will he make good? Will he emulate his college feats in the big league?

Perhaps no one is better qualified to pass an opinion on the chances of Killinger to make good than Coach Bezdek of Penn State. Under Bezdek's direction Killinger has reached dizzy heights in the college athletic world. Bezdek thinks Killinger will make good. To me the most interesting thing that Bezdek said about the Penn star was:

Killinger thinks with a baseball mind.

That one sentence speaks a volume in summing up Killinger's chances to make the grade in the majors; if he thinks with a baseball mind as Bezdek says, he has one of the most important assets for success.

To illustrate just what I mean, I need only cite the case of Joe Jackson, one-time star of the Chicago White Sox. Joe was far from an intellectual giant, yet on the ball field I rated Joe as an intellectual ball player. When he caught a fly ball or handled a grounder, he always knew where to return the ball. When he was facing the bases, he was quick to see openings and take advantage of them. At the bat always dangerous, he often upset the opposition by pulling the unexpected.

Jackson thought with a baseball mind.

I have known a number of college graduates who could discuss almost any subject in a most thorough manner, yet on the ball field they could always clutter up the bases by some poor base running, or create some tough situation, simply by throwing the ball to the wrong base.

These college men had keen minds, but when on the ball field they were unable to think with a baseball mind.

No, indeed, all the brainy ball players are not college graduates. Many of them never even saw a college campus.

On the other hand, do not get the impression that college men are dumb. Eddie Collins, George Sisler, Frankie Frisch and a host of other college men are among the baseball leaders as far as brains are concerned.

On the diamond they can think with a baseball mind.

The point I have tried to make is that a college education is not necessary to be ranked as a brainy player.

DAIRY FACTS

SUCCULENT FEED FOR COWS

Dried Apple Pomace Does Not Cause Decrease in Milk Flow Nor Yield of Butterfat.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Dried or "evaporated" apple pomace as a succulent feed for the dairy cow is the subject of a preliminary report from the bureau of chemistry and animal industry of the United States Department of Agriculture based on an experiment to determine the feeding value of dried-apple pomace, especially its suitability as food for cows in lactation. Preliminary results are reported because of a large number of inquiries on the subject.

The text of the report follows:

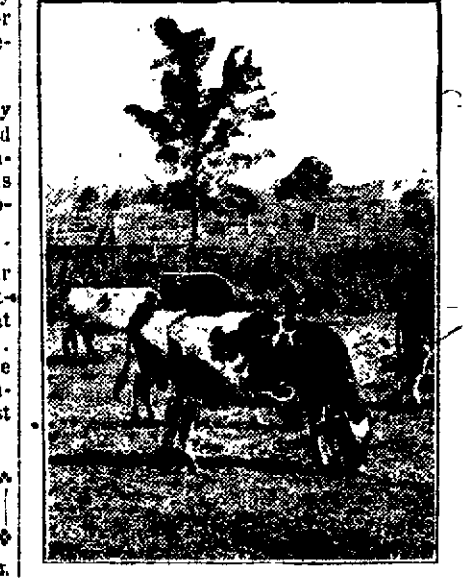

It appears there is a belief among dairymen that the dried product has a tendency to cut down the milk flow, or even cause cows to go dry, although apple pomace fresh from the cider press is generally recognized as being a good succulent feed for milk cows. To test the soundness of this belief, a feeding trial has been carried out by the department. Only one cow was used in this test, and the total quantity of dried pomace fed was less than 400 pounds; therefore it must be borne in mind that the results obtained, while indicative, cannot be accepted as conclusive.

In this feeding trial the dried-apple pomace was fed wet and its feeding value compared with that of corn silage, since it is intended to be a succulent feed. The pomace was prepared by adding to the dry material three times its weight of water several hours before feeding, thus producing a feed similar in water content to that of corn silage.

For a period of 30 days the cow received a balance ration consisting of grain, hay, and corn silage. The silage was then replaced by the apple pomace for a similar length of time, following a ten-day transition period for the change in diet, and after a like transition period at the end of 30 days the original ration containing silage was resumed and continued for a third 30-day period.

The quantity fed—36 pounds of wet pomace per day—was such that the total dry matter in the pomace equalled the weight of dry matter in the silage replaced. The quantities of grain and hay fed remained practically constant throughout the whole experiment.

While the data obtained are not sufficient to warrant the drawing of final and definite conclusions, the inations are that no bad effects follow the feeding of dried-apple pomace. There was no decrease in the milk flow nor in the yield of butterfat.

When fed as described the dried pomace appeared to be equal, pound for pound of dry matter, to good corn silage as a succulent food for this dairy cow. Owing to the property which it possesses of absorbing large quantities of water and swelling, it should never be fed dry, but should be allowed to soak in water for an hour or so before feeding. The pomace appears to be a palatable feeding stuff.

Caution is advised in feeding dried apple pomace, as there is a possibility that the feeding of large quantities, or of quantities containing excessive amounts of apple seeds, might prove injurious. It appears to be safe, however, to feed as much soaked pomace by weight (one part dried pomace to three parts water) as it would be to feed the same amount of pomace fresh from the cider press.

TO PREVENT DREAD DISEASE

Foot-and-Mouth Ailment Need Not Be Feared If French Serum Proves Reliable.

The dread foot-and-mouth disease will no longer be feared by cattlemen if the announcement of the discovery of a serum for the prevention of this disease by a group of French scientists, proves reliable and if this serum can be manufactured in sufficient quantities. Several outbreaks of the disease have occurred in the United States, the last of them several years ago, causing a great loss. The only effective method of stamping out the disease heretofore has been to slaughter all cattle affected and thoroughly disinfect the premises.
